FIRST EDITION.

FORTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

(FIRST SESSION.)

The Centennial Appropriation Bill Passed by the House.

The Vote in Detail—146 Ayes and 130 Nays.

The Alcoholic Liquor Traffic Bill Passed by the House.

WASHINGTON, January 25, 1876.

SENATE.

Woman Suffrage.

Mr. SARGENT presented a petition signed by a large number of ladies asking that a government be established in the District of Columbia which would confer upon women the right to vote.

Mr. SARGENT alluded to Wyoming, where woman suffrage was endorsed by the judiciary, press and people generally. He knew of no better place to make this experiment than the capital of the nation, and asked that the petition be referred to the Committee on District of Columbia, to be considered in connection with any bill to provide a government for the District. It was referred.

Army and Navy Register.

Mr. ANTHONY, from the Committee on Printing, reported favorably on the resolutions to print five hundred copies of the Army Register and the same number of copies of the Naval Register for 1875. Passed.

Militia.

Mr. MORRILL submitted a resolution directing the Secretary of War to communicate to the Senate the aggregate number of organized militia in the several States. Agreed to.

Railway Obstructions.

Mr. SHERMAN submitted a resolution instructing the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds to inquire and report whether existing railroads running in the District of Columbia impede the avenues, streets and public grounds in Washington through which they pass, whether the roads have acquired any right to the use of the same, and the extent of such right, and what measures are necessary to secure the surrender of such right, and also as to the expediency of changing the location of the depots of said railroads in Washington. Agreed to.

Educational.

By Mr. MORRILL, to establish an educational fund, and apply a portion of the proceeds of public lands to public education, and to provide for the more complete endowment and support of national colleges for the advancement of scientific and industrial education. Referred.

Pontoon Bridge Across the Mississippi.

By Mr. CAMERON (Wis.), to authorize the construction of a pontoon bridge across the Mississippi river from some feasible point in Lacrosse county, Wisconsin, to some feasible point in Houston county, Minnesota. Referred.

The Alcoholic Liquor Traffic.

The morning hour having expired the Senate resumed consideration of the unfinished business, being the bill to provide for the appointment of a commission on the subject of the alcoholic and fermented liquor traffic and manufacture.

Mr. CHRISTIANCY submitted an amendment declaring that the committee shall be appointed for the purpose of obtaining information which may serve as a guide to a system of legislation best fitted for the District of Columbia, the several territories of the United States, and other places subject to the legislation of Congress in reference to the question of revenue from the manufacture and sale of alcoholic and fermented liquors, and the effect of the use of such liquors upon the morals or welfare of the people of such district, territories and places. The amendment was agreed to.

The amendments proposed by the Senate Committee on Finance on the 21st of January were also concurred in, and the bill passed as amended—ayes 37, nays 20—Messrs. Booth and Withers voting with the Republicans in favor of the bill.

Homesteads on Railroad Grants.

Mr. HARVEY called up the Senate bill to confirm pre-emption and homestead entries of public lands within the limits of railroad grants in cases where such entries have been made under the regulations of the Land Department.

Mr. HARVEY spoke in favor of the passage of the bill, and quoted from several decisions of the Interior Department against the rights of settlers, which, he said, were erroneous, and settlers could not have their rights decided in courts in consequence of such decisions.

Mr. INGALLS said aid had been granted to probably one hundred railroad companies. Laws which had heretofore been construed in favor of settlers within the past two or three years had been reversed, and were now just the opposite, and they had been opposite since Columbus Delano was Secretary of the Interior and Willis Drummond was Commissioner of the General Land Office. There was no appeal from the decisions of the Secretary of the Interior.

Mr. BOGY said the decisions of the late Secretary of the Interior in the cases complained of were erroneous. He desired to protect settlers as much as possible, and thought the bill should be made more explicit.

Pending the discussion Mr. HAMLIN moved that the Senate proceed to the consideration of executive business.

Abolition of the Senate.

Mr. CAMERON presented a petition of citizens of Wisconsin asking an amendment to the Constitution of the United States for the abolition of the Senate and the transfer of the powers of that body to the House of Representatives. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

The Senate then went into executive session, and in a short time adjourned.

HOUSE.

The Speaker called the committees for reports.

Reports from Committees.

Mr. FOSTER, from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported a bill transferring the custody of certain Indian trust bonds from the Secretary of the Interior to the Treasury of the United States. Passed.

Mr. COX, from the Committee on Banking and Currency, reported back adversely three bills proposing to repeal the ten per cent. tax on the circulation of banks that are not national banks. Laid on the table.

Mr. TERRY, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported a resolution calling on the Secretary of War for copies of orders and instructions under which Quartermaster General Meigs is acting during his absence from the United States. Adopted.

Mr. KOX, from the Judiciary Committee, reported a bill to reorganize the judiciary of the United States. Recommitted.

Mr. JENKS, from the Committee on Invalid Pensions, reported a bill supplementary to the pension act, providing that except in case of permanent specific disabilities no increase of pension shall be allowed to commence prior to the date of the examining surgeon's certificate.

Also, repealing the law which makes bounty land warrants personal property. After some discussion the bill was passed.

Mr. RUSK, from the same committee, reported a bill to increase pensions in certain cases. It provides that persons who, in the military or naval service, have lost one hand and one foot, or have been totally or permanently disabled, shall be entitled to a pension for each of those disabilities.

Centennial Appropriation.

After the call of the committees was concluded the House went into Committee of the Whole, Mr. Wood, of New York, in the chair, on the Centennial appropriation bill.

Mr. THOMPSON advocated the bill, while Mr. SOUTHARD opposed.

Mr. ROBBINS (N. C.) followed. He said that when the war broke out a North Carolina farmer had six sons grown up to manhood, who at the first tap of the drum went to the field to fight in the cause of the South. They had not stayed to reason about it, and they fought from Bull Run to Appomattox. But not all of them. One was sleeping at Antietam, one at Chancellorsville, one at Chickahominy, and another in Kentucky. But two of them were at the Appomattox battle, scarred. They had seen the flag go down which they had followed with unfaltering devotion. One of those survivors was he who now addressed the House, and who now said that he had seen enough of war, and wanted peace; that he wanted reconciliation and brotherhood all over the country. That was why he proposed to vote for the bill, for he thought that the tendency of the celebration was to promote peace. Why was there not peace? The soldiers had fought out the war with bayonets, muskets and cannon, and now ceased fighting. The reason why there was not peace was because a few selfish, restless political agitators still wanted to keep up the fight, and their weapons were asses' jaw bones. [Laughter and applause.] He was opposed to participation in that kind of warfare. He wanted peace. His people had sent him here to talk peace, to help bring about reconciliation and good understanding.

The debate was continued by Messrs. WILLIAMS (Wis.) and LAMAR in favor of the bill [illegible] by Messrs. WHITE and GOODIN agai[illegible]

In th[illegible] of Mr. LAMAR's speech he asked whether it could be said that in view of the plenary power of the General Government in regard to foreign affairs there was a constitutional incompetency in Congress to invite commissioners from foreign countries to bring here the productions of commerce, art, and industry? Was it unconstitutional in the President to give an invitation which the law authorized him to give? If not, it was clearly and unqualifiedly the duty of Congress to appropriate the money for that purpose. He favored the celebration in order that the people of the North should become satisfied of the longing desire of the Southern people to live with them in perpetual union, and before that feeling all others sunk into insignificance. He deprecated an allusion made by Mr. Townsend (N. Y.) last week to Preston Brooks, and intimated that the inevitable effect of the allusion was to excite passion, to inflame animosity, and to awaken the hatred of sectionalism. He (Lamar) advocated the scheme because it carried out the spirit of peace and reconciliation. It was something like an image of the feeling of the people, who demanded that the alienation and distrust which had heretofore existed between the two sections of the Union should no longer obstruct the glories of the Republic or prosperity and happiness of the American people. As God was his judge, he did not believe that that alienation existed any longer. Never since Jefferson was first inaugurated had the entire mass of American people been animated by a purer, intenser, broader, more universal patriotism looking to universal brotherhood and affection. He knew that that sentiment had not found its full expression here, that it had been kept down and smothered in the meshes of an intolerant political organization, and that its voice had not been heard amid the clamors and appeals of impassioned partisans. But in the political as well as in the natural world the agencies that were most powerful were not most noisy. Violence, passion and fanaticism could always find voices and fill the air with their factious clamors, while the deep and earnest feelings of the great people lay unspoken in their hearts. The currents of passion and feeling might flow hither and thither, lashed by extraneous agencies, but there was in the great sea of unsounded depth a common humanity, a common hope, a common interest, and a common patriotism, which lay unspoken. [Applause.]

Mr. LAMAR spoke under the rule which limited the time to ten minutes, but as soon as the time expired Mr. GARFIELD rose and courteously yielded his time to Mr. LAMAR.

Mr. REA spoke against the bill, and then the general discussion having closed, Mr. HOLMAN moved, as a test vote, to strike out the enacting clause of the bill.

The motion was rejected—101 to 126.

Mr. MILLS offered an amendment authorizing the Governor of Texas to appoint two Commissioners from that State in place of those acting under a former appointment, but on a point of order the amendment was ruled out.

Mr. MILLS explained that Texas desired to be represented at the celebration, but she would not be represented by two such gentlemen as those who had been appointed.

The amendment offered by Mr. SHEAKLEY for free admission on the 4th of July and every Thursday, was rejected, and several other amendments were proposed and rejected.

The committee then rose and reported the bill to the House, with a recommendation that it do pass.

Mr. HOPKINS, chairman of the select committee which had reported the bill, having an hour to close the debate, yielded portions of his time to other members, and further speeches were made for the bill by Messrs. Young and Randall.

A large number of requests for leave to have the speeches on the Centennial bill printed in the Congressional Record were made and granted.

An amendment offered by Mr. Springer requiring the payment in full to the Treasury of any balance that may be left in the hands of the Finance Committee before any dividend or percentage of profits shall be paid to the stockholders, was agreed to.

The House then proceeded to vote on the passage of the bill. The bill was then passed—yeas 146, nays 130. The announcement was greeted with applause. The following is the vote in detail:

NEW YORK, January 25, 1876.

The Brooklyn Scandal.

The Clerk of Plymouth Church has furnished Henry C. Bowen with a written copy of S. V. White's statement of grievances against him. Mr. White says he intended to allow Bowen a reasonable time to reply. If he should continue silent or refuse to tell what he knew damaging to Mr. Beecher or admit he knew nothing against his pastor whatever, then he (White) would appeal to the church and ascertain whether or not it would consider it necessary, both to its peace and purity, that all its members, including Henry C. Bowen, should be faithful to their covenant obligations to the church.

A Wholesale Forger Sentenced.

In the Supreme Court this morning Lucius W. Pond, the manufacturer whose wholesale forgeries created so much surprise and excitement, withdrew his plea of not guilty, and was sentenced to fifteen years in the State prison. There are still thirty-two indictments against him.

THE RESULT OF THE RECENT ELECTION IN FRANCE.

FRANCE.

War Rumors Denied.

PARIS, January 25.—The official journal contradicts the rumors that the reserve will shortly be called out, and also the intended mobilization of the territorial army.

The Elections.

The evening papers state that at the Ministerial Council Buffet submitted to President McMahon the complete returns of the elections for Senatorial delegates. These returns have been a wonderfully long time in coming to hand, and being refused to the press, the Republican journals infer they cannot be favorable to the Prime Minister's policy. It will be scarcely possible before the decisive day (January 30th) to know which party will be victorious.

The Result of the Recent Election.

LONDON, January 26.—A Paris correspondent of the Times telegraphs the following. It is asserted that information received by the various political parties gives this as the result of the recent election: The Senate will include twenty-two Radicals, sixteen Irreconcilable Bonapartists, forty-seven Moderate Bonapartists, seventy Fusionists, Legitimists and Orleansists, i. e., Ministerialists, and fourteen Ultra Legitimists. This estimate includes life Senators already elected, and if correct, shows that the Left will have one hundred and twenty-six seats in the Senate.

It is reported that Buffet is engaged in rectifying mistakes in the lists of Senatorial delegates furnished by prefects. A semi-official journal defends the Government for not publishing the returns of the elections on the ground that it would be obviously improper for it to attempt to classify delegates elected according to their political opinions, as reported by prefects, while the publication of a mere list of names would convey no information.

TURKEY.

Insurgents Defeated.

CONSTANTINOPLE, January 25.—An official dispatch to the Porte from the Ottoman Consul at Ragusa states that the insurgents were defeated in the recent engagement at Trebinje.

Persecution of Christians.

LONDON, January 25.—The Times has a letter from Constantinople, which gives details of great suffering among the Armenian Christians from the cruelty of the Turkish rulers and the unrestrained rapine of Koards. Many of the Christians are professing conversion to Islamism in the hope of escaping oppression.

Preparing for War.

BUCHAREST, January 25.—The Minister of War has asked the Chamber to grant an additional £224,000 for army equipments. Urgency was voted on the measure.

Austrians Aiding the Insurgents.

LONDON, January 26.—The Pesther Lloyd comments on the open encouragement and aid given the Herzegovinian insurgents by the Austrian authorities in Dalmatia, and calls on the Hungarian Government to interfere.

Andrassy's Reforms.

LONDON, January 26.—A Vienna telegram reports that efforts continue to be made at Constantinople to induce the Sultan to accept Andrassy's reforms. The Porte has sent a confidential agent to Cettinje to offer a compromise.

The Position of Montenegro.

LONDON, January 26.—The Montenegrin Official Journal announces that the party is determined to declare war and annihilate Montenegro. The Journal declares that Montenegro has preserved her neutrality, but is unable to prevent individual subjects from aiding their brethren.

The Berlin correspondent of the Times says the above important statement is confirmed by a communication from the Porte to several powers, threatening that the Turks will immediately occupy Montenegro if her Government does not cease giving aid to the rebels.

SPAIN.

Complexion of the Cortes.

MADRID, January 25.—The total number of Deputies elected to Congress is 406. Of these thirty are supporters of Sagosta, ten Clericals, one Cantonalist and 364 Ministerialists. Senor Castelar is the only Moderate Republican elected.

A Battle in Progress.

HENDAY, January 25.—A dispatch from Renteria announces that the Alfonsists are making a general movement. There is heavy firing around San Sebastian. Eight battalions are advancing on the neighboring Carlist positions.

Late advices from Renteria report that the firing continues.

Alfonsists are rapidly gaining ground in the neighborhood of Lasaate and Oyarzun. No idea can be formed yet of the losses on either side.

Fighting all Around.

LONDON, January 26.—The Post's special from Irun states that the Alfonsists have begun a simultaneous attack on all the Carlist positions in Alava, Biscay and Guipuzcoa.

Election Abuses.

LONDON, January 25.—A special from Madrid says Sagosta's organ, the Iberia, and other opposition journals reiterate the allegations of official pressure and abuses at the elections. The correspondent estimates that the Sagostas have obtained forty seats, Castelar's party ten, and the Radicals six or eight. Great apathy prevailed throughout the country. The Ministerial majority is too large to be genuine or beneficial.

GERMANY.

The New Penal Code.

LONDON, January 25.—A Berlin special says the disclosures made by the Reichs Anzeiger have determined the National Liberal party to give Prince Bismarck their full support relative to the Arnim clauses of the new penal code.

Proceedings of Congressional Committees.

Proposed Reorganization of the Judiciary.

WASHINGTON, January 25, 1876.

The Proceedings of the Congressional Committees.

The Committee on Privileges and Elections, at a meeting to-day, took up the Pinchback and Eustis cases, and discussed them in a general way, and without coming to any conclusion, adjourned their further consideration until next Friday.

The Senate Finance Committee were mainly occupied with Sherman's bill relative to National bank receivers and bankruptcy proceedings, but its consideration was not concluded. The committee also had up Mr. Conkling's bill on the same general subject.

The Senate Committee on Appropriations heard Commissioners Dennison, Ketchum and Phelps on the subject of the payment of interest on the 3.65 District of Columbia bonds, the question being whether the United States should make an appropriation directly or the District authorities to pay the interest now and look to the Federal Government for appropriations to make good any possible deficit in the District revenues hereafter. No action was taken.

The House Committee on Judiciary have agreed to report a bill allowing criminals in criminal cases to testify in their own behalf.

Proposed Reorganization of the Judiciary.

Representative Knott to-day reported from the Committee on Judiciary a bill to reorganize the Judiciary of the United States, the main features of which are as follows: A Circuit Court shall be held in each Judicial District of the United States at the same time and place at which the District Court shall or may be held, and such Circuit Court is established in every District where no such Court now exists, and shall belong to the circuit in the territorial limits of which it is embraced. The several Circuit Courts shall have and exercise no jurisdiction in cases of appeal or in writs of error issued out after the first day of September, 1876, but writs of error, appeals and reviews in bankruptcy cases may be heard as heretofore, provided there is established in each of the circuits a Court of Appeals with appellate jurisdiction of all cases arising in the several Circuit and District Courts. The Justice of the Supreme Court assigned to the circuit, the Circuit Judge and the several District Judges of the district composing the circuit shall be Judges of the Court of Appeals. No Judge who has heard a case in a court below shall sit in the Court of Appeals upon the hearing of the same cause, or be counselor or give any opinion to other Judges in relation thereto. The Court of Appeals shall also be a Court of record. The decision of the Court of Appeals upon questions of law shall in all cases, except as provided, be final and conclusive, but an appeal may be taken to the Supreme Court. Appeals in chancery shall be allowed from the Court of Appeals to the Supreme Court in cases where the matter in controversy exceeds $10,000, in the manner now provided by law for directing appeals in like cases from the Circuit Court. The Chief Justice and other Justices of the Supreme Court may attend any term of the Circuit or District Court within his circuit, and when so attending shall sit in and preside over the court.

Cuba.

The President has replied to the resolution of the House of Representatives adopted last Saturday, saying that no correspondence has taken place with any European Government except Spain in relation to intervention in Cuba. The correspondence recently transmitted to the House shows that our Ministers were instructed merely to read the letter of the Secretary of State addressed to Mr. Cushing to the Governments to which they are respectively accredited.

Reducing Expenses.

The House Committee on Appropriations took up to-day and formally considered the Legislative, Judicial and Executive Appropriation bill. They struck out the appropriation for seven clerks of the House, reduced the salaries of members of Congress from $5,000 to $4,500 per annum, and proposed to make a general reduction of ten per cent. on the salaries of civil Government employes.

JUDGE LYNCH'S COURT.

Mob Law Rampant in West Virginia.

Three Murderers Taken from the Charleston Jail.

Their Fate Still a Mystery.

CINCINNATI, January 25.—The Gazette's Charleston (W. Va.) special says Thomas Hines and Wm. Dooley had an altercation regarding Dooley's wife, and Hines threatened to cut Dooley's throat. To-night Hines went to Dooley's shop, knocked on the door, and when Dooley appeared Hines struck him with a knife at the lower part of the ear, severing the jugular vein. Dooley seized an instrument used for crimping books and felled Hines to the ground. Dooley died about an hour afterward. Hines is in jail.

The cases of Dawson and Estep, charged with the murder of Lee several days ago, was called in the court at Charleston to-day. The prisoners' counsel consumed the day in arguing for a change of venue on account of the popular excitement against the prisoners in Charleston. The Judge reserved his decision until to-morrow. The court house and yard were filled with anxious people, the majority of whom are citizens of Campbell's Creek, where the murder was committed.

Later.

About two hundred armed men arrived at 10 P. M. on the steamer Judge Baker, and proceeded to the jail and took Dawson and Estep out and marched them off to the woods, where they will probably be found hanging to a tree in the morning.

Dooley, who was killed by Hines early this evening, was a colored man. After the mob had carried off the Lee murderers colored citizens to the number of fifty went to the jail and demanded Hines, who was delivered to them, and they then followed the former crowd to the woods with their prisoner, who will probably meet the same fate.

THE WHISKY RING.

The McKee Trial in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, January 25.—Judge Dillon rendered a decision upon the opening of the trial of Wm. McKee, this morning, ruling that the case must go on; that the conspiracy had been one of numerous acts, and extending over a long period of time, and the declarations of the co-conspirators or accomplices must be heard. If, however, when the case should be all in and the connection of McKee with the conspiracy should rest solely on the testimony of the accomplices, then the Court would instruct the jury how little weight was to be attached to their evidence. The intimation was that the evidence of the ring and McKee's connection with them would not be alone sufficient.

Following the decision of the Judge the testimony of Sanford M. Barton, the manager of the Burghan Bros.' St. Louis distillery, was taken. He testified to the general operations of the ring, the amount of "crooked" made by their house, and special assessments for the alleged purpose of buying off revenue officers and to prevent seizures. One of the sums raised in this way witness was told by Joyce was to go to Babcock. Witness had a conversation with Engelke about an interview the latter had with McKee at the Globe office, but he could not recollect it distinctly enough to repeat it.

John H. Concannon, Deputy Collector under C. W. Ford, and for a short time under Constantine Maguire, was the next witness. He testified to having known McKee twenty years, and that the latter was a good friend of his; saw McKee in Ford's office a dozen times perhaps; saw him there during the visit here of Gen. Sewell, a revenue agent, in 1871 or 1872. He said he wished to see Fitzroy, that he had an important communication to make to him. Fitzroy was not in his office, and McKee said Finley Robb, Storekeeper at Bevis & Frazer's distillery, would do, and he wrote a note to him, which I had delivered by a young man in the office. Nicker then told me that General Sewell was in town, and he wished Robb to know it. Subsequently Robb told me that the knowledge of Sewell's presence in the city had caused them to lose several tubs of mash. Witness then recounted the manner in which John Leavenworth tried to get him to join the ring, and proceeded: "I had a brief talk with McKee on the street, and told him Brazier, the Revenue agent, had arrived. At another time I told him, in pursuance of general orders from Mr. Ford, when three other agents came, and at another time I told him when some were expected who did not come. Mr. Ford was not at the office at the time, and I could not find him, and I went to see McKee. One day McKee came to see Ford, and subsequently Ford called me to him and told me that in all confidential matters where an excercise of prudence or judgment was required, I should consult McKee. In fact, his instructions were so specific as to put me actually under McKee's directions. While Ford was absent in Colorado I consulted with McKee on several occasions. When he started away for a lengthy trip he wrote me a letter relative to McKee. That letter was afterwards abstracted from my desk, but I can give the substance of it."

The defense objected to the witness stating what was in the letter unless its exact words could be given. A discussion followed and the objection was withdrawn.

The witness continued: The note was about this—"I have just heard that possibly some detectives will come here. If they do, make them show their credentials, and then see Mr. McKee." Witness knew Simon Ray, a nephew of McKee. Ray was appointed ganger after McKee sold the Democrat, just before the Globe was started. I had a conversation with McKee about the pay of Ray as gauger. He said he would need Ray's services in the Globe office, and Ray's brother would perform the duties of gauger. Ray was willing to take part of the salary himself, give part to his brother, and let me have the remainder. I spoke to Ford about it, and he said if there was no dishonest purpose in the arrangement it was all right.

The defense objected to this kind of testimony, and held that before it was admissable the Government should prove that at the time it was a violation of the revenue law for a gauger to do his work by proxy.

Judge Dillon (to witness)—If Ray was entitled to this compensation, and if you did no part of the work, why was it that you were to receive part of the pay?

Witness—I don't know, except, as I said before, McKee was my very good friend, and he adopted this plan to assist me.

Alfred Bevis, of the firm of Bevis & Fraser, was the next witness, and testified to receiving information of Gen. Sewell's arrival here in 1872 from Finley Robb, who was then storekeeper in their distillery. They had several tubs of "crooked" mash that morning, which were run into the beer sink. Some unstamped, which was in their warehouse, was disposed of and their house straightened generally. Sewell reached their distillery two hours after they were informed of his arrival and found all right.

Verdict in the Brownlee Case at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, January 25.—In the United States Court the argument in the Brownlee "crooked" whisky case was closed at noon to-day. After the instructions of the court, the jury retired, and at five o'clock brought in a verdict of "not guilty." Gen. Ben. Harrison made the closing argument for the defense and Gen. Tom Brown for the prosecution.

The "Crooked" Whisky Cases in Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, January 25.—In the United States Circuit Court to-day, Judge Dyer presiding, the whisky cases were taken up. Louis Samuel, Elias and Max Rindskoff and Christian Salintine, rectifiers, John E. Fitzgerald, ganger, and Lewis Bemis, store-keeper, plead guilty on the indictments for conspiracy to defraud. A nolle prosecution was entered in the case of W. H. Roddis, who had turned State's evidence, and in the case of W. P. Havey, store-keeper, the counsel for the Government stated that he was honest, but had been deceived.

Religious Revival in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, January 25.—The revival meetings which were arranged for by the Evangelical Alliance of this city some days ago were inaugurated to-night at the Rink by Whittles and Bliss, of Chicago. About 2,500 people were present, and great interest was manifested in the proceedings. The meeting was conducted in the same general way that similar meetings have been conducted in Chicago—prayer by home ministers, an exhortation by Whittle, and songs by Bliss. All prominent evangelical churches in the city were represented by their pastors, and a great number of lay members were present. The meetings will be continued as long as the interest in them is kept up and a special effort is made to extend their influence to all classes of society.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

Maggie Mitchell as Marie in "The Pearl of Savoy" drew another jammed house last night, again forcibly illustrating her unfailing and unequalled popularity. Her company rendered excellent support, Mr. Varrey's Commander, Mr. Harris' Loustalot, Mr. Irving's Pierot and Miss Wyndham's Chouchon being specially noteworthy. At the matinee this afternoon "Little Barefoot" will be produced again, and this evening "Lorle, or the Artist's Dream."

The School of Design.

The free exhibition of oil and water color paintings &c., at the rooms of the School of Design is sufficiently varied, as to the style and character of the pictures displayed, to make it much more than ordinarily interesting. Many of the paintings are quiet meritorious. The exhibition from an artistic point of views alone is very attractive and well worthy a visit, ignoring the fact that the object of the school is such as should win it liberal patronage and encouragement.

Trimble's Varieties.

This one and only successful variety theater ever established in Pittsburgh owes its success to the fact that it has closely and strictly adhered to the policy of presenting to its patrons nothing but first class variety entertainments. In pursuance of that idea the best specialists that can be obtained are engaged, and the programme for the present week is evidence that there is no deterioration in quality.

THE OLD FOLKS OUTWITTED.

How the Course of True Love ran in Cumberland.

The News, published in Cumberland,—the eastern terminus of the Connellsville Railroad—tells this story: "Early Monday noon Miss Annie Snyder, aged eighteen, daughter of the proprietor of the Potomac House, this city, left her home to spend the evening, she said, with a lady friend in another part of the city. About six o'clock a note was left at the house for the young lady's parents, signed "E. A. Pippin," and saying that he had eloped with their daughter, but that they did not intend to go far, and would be home to-morrow (today), as man and wife. Mr. Snyder was disposed to take the matter philosophically, but his wife went into the most frightful hysterics, and raved until she became really ill and a physician had to be summoned. The mother's grief is doubtless greatly augmented by the fact that the family will in a few weeks remove to a Western State, and must now go without one of its members. Mr. Pippin is about thirty-five years of age, and is a widower. He owns a house in the First ward, but has been boarding at the Potomac House for a year or more. He is a boat builder, and, we understand, an upright citizen, and highly respected by all who know him. Miss Snyder came here with her parents, from Frederick, about three years ago. Those of her friends who are disposed to look at the matter coolly think that she had considered what she was about to do, and knowing that her marriage on the eve of her family's departure for a distant State would be opposed, determined to take the matter into her own hands."

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 26, 1876.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 32½f.

BONDS at Frankfort, new 5s, 100.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 113¼.

THE Virginia Republican Association is in favor of BLAINE,—which scores one for him.

THE reward advertised was a hundred dollars, and was intended for a man who did not get paid for his time anywhere else!

AFFAIRS in European Turkey do not improve. The Sultan has determined to refuse the reforms suggested in Count ANDRASSY's note, and the insurgents are redoubling their efforts to gain material advantage over the forces sent against them. In Servia, Prince MILAN will be compelled to resign or will be murdered. Unless the great powers intervene, Turkey cannot fail to suffer severely, and the end of the empire may be very near.

THE New York Herald reports that Dom PEDRO, Emperor of Brazil, will be present at the openiong of our great Centennial Exposition. He proposes to take two years' recreation, the first portion of which he will spend in this country studying our institutions. The Emperor is a man of very considerable scientific attainments, and is friendly to free institutions and general progress. He has long been an ardent admirer of the United States and his visit will be cordially welcomed.

THE Legislature has determined after all to investigate the Reform School. We suggest that in place of a House Committee, which will bear a partisan look, a joint committee of both houses have in charge the work of investigation. The Legislature has a right to know that matters are conducted properly before it shall appropriate to it money, but it should be the entire Legislature, and not one part of it. Perhaps a thorough and sifting investigation is best, as matters now stand.

AS THE cotton frauds develop, they wear an ugly look for the parties involved. It is declared that the claim was first pronounced fraudulent by the Solicitor of the Treasury, and then carried to the Commissioner of Customs, who in conjunction with others, "railroaded" it through the Treasury Department, and divided the plunder. Of course, these things must be proven in court before they can be fully accepted, but the Treasury Department has not been in the habit of stating more than it could prove. It is very probable the case will be earnestly pressed.

THE Aldermen at their meeting last night, as will be seen elsewhere, discussed the matter of "Alderman outrages" to which we called attention yesterday. It is gratifying to note that they are waking up on the subject, for a little healthy agitation would insure, not only to the benefit of the public but to the better class of Aldermen, and would thus tend to elevate the general character of the fraternity. The really honorable members owe it to themselves as well as to the public th... these abuses of alder... [illegible] ...e sensitiveness manifested is evidence that the aldermen themselves know that our article was but the truth, as mildly stated as it could have been in view of all the facts; and if, as was stated last night, they are really anxious to have these abuses corrected, they will have the hearty support of this journal, as well as, we believe, of the press and people in general.

THE latest phase of the MCKEE trial, in St. Louis, is a long argument against the quality of the evidence. The claim is that the evidence of a confessed accomplice is of no value, and should not be received. This is a practical confession of the guilt of the man, and a demand that the evidence shall be suppressed, because it came from those who were participants in crime. We do not know enough of the technicalities of law, to be able to point out the defects in the line of argument pursued by Judge KRUM, but if there are precedents in favor of dismissing the testimony of accomplices, when uncorroborated, there are certainly precedents in favor of not dismissing when a chain of evidence is produced that fixes guilt on the party charged. As we see it, all the evidence of the prosecution is not in, and it remains to be determined whether the case will not be fully supported. The fight over a technicality proves the desperation of the defense.

BUNCOMBE rules even the Committees of he House at Washington. The Appropriation Committee for example, has voted to reduce members' salaries to $4,500. This bit of virtue is merely for parade,—not for solid service. If they were entirely certain the Senate would defeat it, they would venture to pass it in the House; but unless they have that assurance, they will deal with it in a very tender and delicate manner. It is a notification of economy, an assurance of virtue. It is meant to say that the Democracy of the country are not the greedy, grasping creatures, they have been represented, but self-abnegating creatures that only care for the welfare of the country. We will watch this item of reduction, when the bill is brought before the House. The dodging that will be done will astonish a professor in the art gymnastic. Why cannot those gentry realize that honest work, and not affectations of economy, is what the people want. Thus far the House has done practically nothing, even in Committee, but prepare buncombe.

JUDGE STERRETT's decision, in the matter of cumulative voting, created great uneasiness in the Eastern part of the State, among those who hold stocks in corporations. Says, the Philadelphia Press on the subject, "The decision—and it does seem to be the clear ruling of the law—will cause great uneasiness in Philadelphia and the State. Very large numbers of our citizens, especially women and children, have their all invested in the securities of corporations, and this ruling undoubtedly tends to unsettle faith in the permanency of all corporate management. It facilitates greatly Jim Fisk raids, and renders easier and speedier the exploits of the modern highwayman of the market and exchange. The question is so important and so delicate, its consequences are so far-reaching and fraught with such possible danger to so many interests, personal and public, that we are much mistaken if it does not call out a wide expression of opinion from our lawyers and the officers and stockholders of corporations." [illegible] can overcome a large number who may vote a ticket as they find it. This is the danger.

A CITY correspondent, representing one of our most important firms, writes us complaining of the lack of energy on the part of the Chamber of Commerce, in that it has taken no steps to urge on Congress the repeal of the Resumption act. He refers to the measures introduced in Congress to contract the circulating medium, —against which he thinks earnest protest should go forward. We think with him. The currency question is far more important than the bankrupt issue,—as the contraction of currency is the parent of the bankruptcies we are having. MORRISON's bill, requiring the Secretary of the Treasury and the national banks to keep all the gold they can get, will either be inoperative because of the impossibility of enforcing it, or it will crush our best business men, particularly importers. If the Treasury and national banks hoard all the gold they get, how are our importers to get the gold with which to pay their customs dues? They can only stop the fever in our mines, in transit to Europe,—and this will drive the premium up to a fearful rate. A law such as Mr. MORRISON proposes is more palpably in the interest of speculation and high premiums than any law that has been proposed for years. It will lock the doors of the Treasury, and leave outside gold at the mercy of speculators.

WE receive, from time to time, requests to comment on the several financial bills, either proposed or actually reported in Congress. We have not yet seen a resolution or bill which we believed to have the slightest chance of passing. All of them, —even that of MORRISON,—are so crude, and so palpably rest on a total ignorance of affairs, that they cannot, by the slightest possibility, come to anything. There is no use in wasting powder upon them. If it were of any use, the press of the country might devote some space to the hopeless task of enlightening Congress, as to some of the general principles of finance, and so reach beneficial results; but where such dense, hopeless ignorance exists, this is an unprofitable task. We still think, as we have frequently stated heretofore, that the result of all the efforts made will be to leave the present Resumption act untouched, an incubus on the nation, yet ineffective as a means of specie resumption. That act is well termed a compromise,—being neither one thing or other. It does not even provide the first practical method of resumption, although it gravely announces that it shall take place in 1879. The Secretary of the Treasury practically admits this when he asks for additional power,—yet no one in Congress seems to know just how to provide this power, in conformity with the law.

OUR DIPLOMACY.

While a Committee of the House is investigating the cost of our diplomatic and consular system, with a view to economy in that branch of the public service, it is pertinent to inquire whether the entire system may not be changed for the better? Do we, with our system of telegraphs, of rapid communication, and of well-defined national and international rights, need Ministers stationed at the several courts of Europe? And cannot our Consular system be at least improved? Diplomacy began when nations were unsettled, and one was ever on the alert to take advantage of another. The term carries with it the idea of cunning, insincerity, duplicity and bad faith, because of the functions of diplomats in earlier times. Under RICHELIEU, the Russian Emperors, and even NAPOLEON, there was a real service to be performed by their embassadors at foreign courts, and in this they were greatly aided by their masters. The schemes of diplomacy whereby RICHELIEU extended his power into Spain and England were marvels of cunning, combination and resource. So the plodding shrewdness with which the Russian ambassadors have steadily combined to bring Turkey under the power of Russia is wonderful, when the obstacles met and overcome are considered. The First NAPOLEON made his own combinations, and his Ministers simply announced them, but these were often plausible and always audacious. So long as this system obtained, representatives at foreign courts were necessary; the more so that communication was difficult and uncertain.

There was one purpose then for which embassadors were employed that exists, in a modified form now. They gathered information and communicated it to the home government. The plans and schemes that were being arranged were searched out, and every circumstance of interest was promptly forwarded, so that the home government might know of plots that were being arranged in time to form counterplots. One important function of our Ministry abroad is, even yet, to forward confidential information to the State Department of what is thought, or said, or proposed, among the diplomats at the court to which he is accredited. Just how much value should be attached to these confidential communications, the blue book does not divulge. That carefully edited document is really a mass of puerilities, and would be regarded with contempt, were it not it is known that really important matters are invariably left out. Assuming the correspondence to have some value,—the other duty of our Ministers is to communicate with the Foreign Ministers of the government to which they are accredited either the contents of the instruction sent, or a brief of it. Sometimes this is conversationally done. The exact idea is to sound the government, before proceeding too far. All this is, probably, possessed of value, occasionally, but we do not see why, as a rule, it is more needed, than that we have an ambassador of the general government at the capital of every State. Much of our foreign correspondence is really the outgrowth of an old custom that supposes the existence of intrigue which must be met by counter intrigue, and that maintains correspondence over very trifling matters, often.

It is true, emergencies may arise tha will call for a prominent representative, and a trained person is of more value than an unskilled appointee could possibly be; but do we need so many as we often have at one point? For example, we have at London, Paris, St. Petersburgh, and other points, a Minister, with full list of attaches, secretaries, and the like, a Consul General and a Consul. Why could not these many offices be merged into one establishment? The time will ultimately come, we think, when all necessity for resident diplomats will cease. We even doubt whether, at the present, this country very specially needs them. Where there is an intermixing of interest, as there is between the Great Powers in Europe, there is evident reason why there should be representatives at the several Courts. But it is an open question whether our Government is really interested, to any important extent, in the schemes or plans of the Great Powers. Our diplomacy does not interlink with that of Europe sufficiently close, even now, in our judgment, to require a representative at every foreign court. It is only in emergencies that they are at all valuable. During the French war, Mr. WASHBURNE was of great service in Paris, in protecting the Germans resident in that city; but a Consul could have done as much. The Spanish discussion may be thought to involve the necessity of a Minister at that Court, but we are of the opinion that the Cuban troubles would be more speedily solved were the correspondence direct, without the medium of an Ambassador. Russia, Austria, Turkey, Germany and other continental powers have no relations with us that could not be settled by correspondence between the State and foreign departments. So with the South American republics and powers. If a grave emergency should arise, special methods might be resorted to to avert it; but otherwise no special need exists for diplomatists. The system is a relic of other days, and is full of suspicions, troubles, and even wars. It was the French diplomatist, more than French demands, who brought on the Franco-German war.

Consuls stand on a different basis. They are business a... [illegible] with certain judicial function... [illegible] represent the honor ... Government, just as ... [illegible] ries. Where we have trade relations, we must necessarily have Consuls. Seamen are to be protected in their rights, vessels cleared, and manifold duties performed, under the laws that exist between nations. A careful sifting of these officials will probably disclose that in places, resident Consular agents will be as effective as any, and these will act for the fees. In other cases, where salaries are paid, they are generally far too small to answer the requirements, or pay the expenses of the position. What can be saved by appointing resident agents, might very properly be applied to properly increase the salaries of others. Where these officials are compelled to advance moneys to destitute seamen, it is certainly befitting that their salaries should afford more than a bare subsistence for themselves. We do not suppose these suggestions will be adopted for years to come; but we regard some such modification of our diplomatic system as sure to come, after a time.

Notes amounting to $7,000 negotiated in one of the national banks by Winslow are known to bear forged endorsements, and it is alleged that when the amount of his forged paper is fully ascertained by investigation, it will reach over $100,000. Ruhl, who was passing, jumped and rescued the boy, although in so doing he was almost drowned. The excitement among the people in the neighborhood was intense, and Higgins would, undoubtedly have been mobbed but for his speedy arrest and imprisonment in the station house.

Returning Courage.

[From the New York Post.]

It is a good omen of returning prosperitp that people are beginning to look for better times.

It is no doubt true that the dullness of business which has afflicted the country ever since the period of panic was a necessary consequence of the panic itself and of the extravagance which produced the panic. It is true also that this dullness has been helpful to the community, or to speak with greater nicety, the dullness of trade has been due to the general practice of economy, which has been a most wholesome thing, and was necessary to the recovery of the country from the effects of its long and wild financial debauch. All this has been said again and again, and there is no gainsaying its truth; but it is also true that the habit of thinking business dull and times hard sometimes prolongs the existence of the state of affairs out of which it comes. A want of confidence in the future of business is in itself capable of paralyzing business; and hence, when men begin to expect renewed prosperity, their hopes may largely help to produce the looked for revival. Their own courage gives courage to others, and if the time be ripe for recovery, as the hope itself indicates that it is, recovery cannot be long postponed after men begin to expect it.

Latterly the symptoms of reviving hope have been many and marked. Business men and the newspapers unite in expecting a better state of business this year than there has been since 1873, and their expectations are not likely to be altogether disappointed. We have retrenched in every possible way. We have learned economy and practiced it sharply. We have worn out our old clothes, used up superfluous stocks of goods, and saved in the process more millions of dollars than many people imagine. We have worked down to a good foundation, and the walls may rise securely now. Purchases have been postponed until they can be postponed no longer, and the necessary purchases of a people who have abstained from buying for the space of more than two years must of themselves create a considerable volume of business. There is wanting only courage, and this seems coming.

A Napoleonic Reminiscence.

Count Segur, whose memoirs have, at his own request, been only published now after his death, confirms what is already known of Napoleon the First's superstition and fatalism. The veteran historian instances the Emperor's intense alarm, when the palace of Prince Schwarzenberg, the Austrian Ambassador in Paris, caught fire and was destroyed during Napoleon's marriage to the Austrian Princess Maria Louisa. Long afterward the Emperor connected Austria's treachery with that event, and expressed himself greatly relieved when he was told at the battle of Dresden in 1813, that Schwarzenberg had been killed in the enemy's lines. This, however, proved untrue, for the general who had fallen was Moreau, whom Napoleon himself had banished on a false charge, and who had taken service under the Austrian Government. Prince Schwarzenberg lived to lead the allied armies into Paris the next year, taking up his residence in the new palace which had been built meanwhile on the site of the mansion whose conflagration had inspired Napoleon [illegible]

The Drummer's Recall.

O Drummer, dear Drummer! 'tis ten days ago
Since we last had an order from you;
We're all getting frightened spite of your blow,
And things look confoundedly blue.
Oh! tell us, oh! tell us, why don't you sell bills
In your travels all over the West?
Your silence our breasts with anxiety fills,
And now it is passing a jest.
Chorus—Come home, come home, come home,
O Drummer! O Drummer! come home.

Ten dollars a day expenses have been
While over this country you roam;
O Drummer! O Drummer! you'd better sell goods,
Or else you'd better come home.
You'd better come back and make no more tramps,
And then you won't feel quite so frisky;
For we're thinking our boy has spent most of our stamps
In burning cigars and bad whisky.
Chorus—Come home, etc.

We're all waiting here with the goods in our store,
And feeling decidedly queer;
O darling Guerilla! please travel no more,
But please to come back to us here.
We're waiting in patience, but waiting in vain,
For a glance at your rubicund face;
And, when you come back, you won't travel again,
For another will travel in your place.
Chorus—Come home, etc.

Advice to an Expectant Bride.

The following letter was recently addressed to a lady about to become a bride, by a gentleman acquaintance, in acknowledgement of the receipt of her wedding card. It gains a melancholy interest from the fact that the young wife died soon after her marriage:

I am holding some pasteboard in my hands, Addie!—three stately pluckings from the bush of ceremony! I am gazing upon a card, and upon a name—a name with which your gentle life began, a name with which your throbbing heart was lost. There is nothing strange about that card. The maiden sign still looks up from it, calm and customary, as it looked on many a friendly visit, as it lies in many a formal basket. I am gazing, too, upon a card where the nearer parent tells the world she will be "At Home," one day, and that is nothing new! But there is another card, whose mingling there puts a tongue of fire into this speechless pasteboard, enameling fate on commonplace! It tells us that feeling is maturing into destiny, and that these cards are but the pale heralds of a coming crisis; when a hand that has pressed friends' hands and plucked flowers shall close down on him to whom she shall be friend and flower forever after. I have sent you a few flowers to adorn the dying moments of your single life. They are the gentlest types of a delicate and durable friendship. They spring up by our side when others have deserted it; and they will be found watching over our graves when those who should cherish have forgotten us. It seems meet to me that a past so calm and pure as yours should expire with a kindred sweetness about it; that flowers and music, kind friends and earnest words, should consecrate the hour when a sentiment is passing into a sacrament. The three great stages of our being are the birth, the bridal, and the burial. To the first we bring only weakness—for the last we have nothing but dust! But here, at the altar, where life joins life, the pair come throbbing up to the holy man, whispering the deep promise that arms each with the other heart, to help on in the life-struggle of care and duty. The beautiful will be there, borrowing new beauty from the scene. The gay and the frivolous, they and their flounces, will look solemn for once. And youth will come, to gaze on all its sacred thoughts pant for; and age will totter up to hear the old words repeated that to their own lives have given the charm. Some will weep over it as if it were a tomb, and some will laugh over it as if it were a joke; but two must stand by it, for it is fate, not fun, this everlasting locking of their lives. And now, can you, who have quenched it over so many bending forms, can you come down at last to the frugal diet of a single heart? Hitherto you have been a clock, giving your time to all the world. Now you are a watch, buried in one particular bosom, warming only his heart, marking only his hours, and ticking only to the beat of his heart—where time and feeling shall be in unison, until these lower ties are lost in that higher wedlock where all hearts are united around the great Central Heart of all. Hoping that calm sunshine may hallow your clasped hands, I sink silently into a signature.

Securing a Situation.

"I observe by the records that your name is Henry Clay Greenlaw," remarked His Honor, as a very tall and very slim colored citizen was pushed along.

"De same, sah."

"It is the solemn duty of every colored mother in the land to name her sons after Henry Clay and her daughters after Martha Washington. If you had been named after a Chicago alderman I should have disdosed of your case in ten seconds."

"Yes, sah."

"Now, then, Henry Clay and so forth, you were found drunk on a pier, and it piers to me from your general look that you are not entirely sober yet."

"Ize from de Souf, sah, looking for a place in some hotel."

"This Court knows no East, no West, no North or South, Henry Clay. You were found doubled up over a barrel, sick, discouraged and weary-hearted, and on the way up here you tried to bite the officer. As bad a man as Sixteen String Jack was, we never read that he tried to bite a New York policeman."

"What I wants is to git a place as waiter," put in the prisoner.

"This court is supposed to be an office of intelligence, but is not an intelligence office. Nevertheless, I think I can secure you such a place. I'll put you where you'll waiter long time before you find a chance to get inebriated again."

"Yes, sah—bleeged, sah."

"No thanks, Henry Clay. I'm going to send you to the Island. I feel kindly toward you, and as I don't want you to shiver around the streets and fall into bad company I shall send you over to my boarding house until the summer blossoms make the birds warble little poems of joyful praise."

"Yes, sah. What's de wages, sah?"

"You can settle that over there. They have recently cut down on salaries, and you must not expect too much."

Collisions of Sun and Stars.

When we duly take all these things into the account, the case of our solar system will appear as only one of a thousand cases of evolution and dissolution with which the heavens furnish us. Other stars, like our sun, have undoubtedly started as vaporous masses, and have thrown off planets in contracting. The inference may seem a bold one, but it after all involves no other assumption than that of the continuity of natural phenomena. It is not likely, therefore, that the solar system will forever be left to itself. Stars which strongly gravitate toward each other, while moving through a perennially resisting medium, must in time be drawn together. The collision of our extinct sun with one of the Pleiades, after this manner, would very likely suffice to generate even a grander nebula than the one with which we started. Possibly the entire galactic system may, in an inconceivably remote future, remodel itself in this way; and possibly the nebula from which our own group of planets has been formed may have owed its origin to the disintegration of systems which had accomplished their career in the depths of the bygone eternity.—Atlantic.

A "Theatrical Sensation."

One of the "gods" at McVicker's last night, says the Chicago Tribune, created quite a sensation by an ejaculation, which, while an historical anachronism, was not wholly inappropriate. King Henry V. had just mastered the situation in the marriage scene, and was sealing the matter by bestowing the regal kiss upon the newly-made Queen, when an urchin in the gallery, unable longer to repress his gratification and delight at the pleasing scene, delivered himself in quite audible tones of those words so significant of appreciation, "Yum, yum, yum." The effect on the audience was immediately perceptible in a slight titter, which gradually broadened into a polite cachination, but finally ended in real downright laughter, and even applause.

Brighter Times Ahead.

The Boston Herald has had an interview with the manager of a large New England cotton mill, and this individual is very positive and sanguine. He believes the business depression is almost wholly caused by over-production; and he also sees—or believes he sees—clear signs that the end is near, and that there are brighter times ahead. "The West and South," he says, "were the first to feel the effects of the panic, and they are the first to recover from it. West of Buffalo the revival in business is apparent everywhere. The hard times are practically ended there. The best business ever done by Western agents in our line was done in Chicago during the past season."

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, January 26, 1876.

There was a better demand for loans at our banks yesterday, but not enough to make a feature of it. There is still a predominance of caution at the banks, paper being very closely scrutinized, and doubtful offerings rejected. Real estate continues absolutely flat,—the depression being very great. Rents are coming down, and yet there are many houses unrented. Business continues depressed, with only occasional indications of relief.

The London Economist, in discussing the financial prospects of the year, remarks first on the fact that the plentifulness of loanable funds in Lombard street is greater at this time than has ever before been the case. With this plethora the loan market is virtually in a state of chronic panic as far as investments and trade are concerned —foreign trade is at a stationary point—loans to foreign countries have come almost to an end. There seems little likelihood of any great improvement in trade or investments, and the surplus of loanable funds may therefore be expected to continue.

Upon the whole, therefore, says the London Economist, we expect that there will, during the present year, be a general preponderance of cheap money, broken as lately by sudden augmentations of value, which will not last long, which we hope will not be excessive in magnitude, but which will be puzzling, because they cannot be foreseen. An ordinary low level, interspersed at irregular intervals with rapid and perplexing elevations, seems the present probability, though it is not a very cheerful one.

The rates for money have fallen during the week, both here and in London. The cause of the fall here was the return flow of currency from the West, the New York banks having gained more than $5,000,000 in legal tender notes, besides nearly half as much more in National Bank notes. The surplus reserve of the banks is now nearly $14,000,000. In London, the movement of specie to the Continent was checked by the advance of the Bank of England discount rate to 5 per cent., and the Bank has since gained specie; accordingly, though the Bank rate is 5 per cent there is no difficulty in getting "prime" three months' bills discounted elsewhere at 3¾ to 4 per cent. The turn towards ease in the London money has had little effect on securities. Here it has been very different, and all securities which are safe investments have been in such demand as to advance prices materially. In addition, there has been a very brisk speculation in shares of sufficiently doubtful value to create a difference of opinion as to what their market price should be. With the close of the year the large majority of professional speculators in Wall street were "short" of stocks, and they have since, not feeling safe in their position, been buying them back, their purchases having created a demand sufficient to carry prices up from two to ten "points;" in this covering movement several of the smaller "bear" speculators have failed, and one Stock Exchange house—Dickinson & Co.—of high standing, both in respect to character and means. The outside public have had little or nothing to do with the upward speculation, although there is a growing opinion that railroad property has passed the point of extreme depression for the next few years; this opinion being encouraged by the more economical management of railroad corporations, but chiefly by the modification of the Granger influence, as is shown by recent events in Wisconsin, where the Granger madness was most virulent.—New York Nation.

LONDON, January 25.—It is thought the bank rate will be reduced on Thursday. The bank is doing no discount business at all. Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

DAILY REPORT OF PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, January 25, 1876.

Trade in general merchandise continues much the same as it has been for some time past, rather tame, but it is expected that there will soon be a change for the better. Our merchants generally hope for an increased trade within the next week or two, and it is earnestly hoped that their expectations may be fully realized.

APPES—There is a fair local demand, but no improvement in prices; sales at $1,50a3,50 per bbl, according to quality and condition.

APPLE BUTTER—65a70 per gallon.

BUTTER—There is still considerable inquiry for strictly prime, but the market for the lower grades continues dull; choice, in small packages, 28a30c.

CRANBERRIES—$12a13 per bbl.

CHEESE—Demand continues to improve, but prices remain unchanged; prime Ohio Factory 13¼a14c; ditto New York, 14a14½c.

EGGS—There is possibly a little better feeling, in consequence of the change in the weather, but the supply is still in excess of the demand, and prices remain as last quoted, 18a20c.

FLOUR—We can report a fair local trade, but no change in prices. Spring wheat flours, $6.25a6,50 for Wisconsins, and $6,50a6,75 for Minnesotas; new red winter wheat $6,00a6,50; old do. $6,75a7. Rye Flour, $5a5,25 per barrel. Buckwheat Flour, 2½a3c per lb.

GROCERIES—Our latest advices, both from New York and Baltimore, report Coffee dull and easier, and the indications are that the importers will not be able to hold the market up unless they can induce Congress to re-impose the two cents duty on imports. The stock in sight is heavy, remarkably so, and herein is the great trouble to the importers. Sugar and Molasses are quiet and unchanged.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, January 25, 1876.

Trade, so far as relates to Pittsburgh, is more active, but the market is far from being in a satisfactory condition; operators here continue to place the responsibility of the unsatisfactory condition of affairs here upon the railroads; who, it is alleged, are discriminating against this point by giving more favorable rates to competing points. Crude was quoted this P. M. at $2,02½a2,05 for immediate shipment; $1,82½ for United certificates, and $2,15a2,17½ for barge oil, delivered here. Refined strong, and, as compared with yesterday, a shade higher; 14c for Philadelphia delivery, and 10¾a10⅞ on cars here.

Barrels more inquired for, but unchanged; city make, $1,30; countries, $1,15a1,20.

L. A. WELSH, Sergeant, Signal Service, U. S. A.

THE water at this point commenced to recede on Monday night, after having attained a height of 15 feet, and last evening the marks indicated 14 feet. Clear and pleasant.

THE Ironsides and barges are announced for St. Louis.

THE new iron steamer Carondelet is said to be "immense."

THE Exchange is annouced to depart for Cincinnati this P. M.

THE E. H. Durfee left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh yesterday.

THE E. H. Durfee, from St. Louis, should arrive on Friday or Saturday.

THE Hornet No. 2 will depart for Louisville to-day with a tow of coal.

BOTH the Monongahela and Allegheny were falling at headwaters yesterday.

THE John A. Wood arrived at New Orleans on Sunday with her tow, all right.

THE Market Boy, from Wheeling, arrived and departed, and the Carrie Brooks, for Zanesville, departed.

THE Warner and barges, from New Orleans, is due here within the next day or two.

THE work of loading the Fearless barges with steel rails for Tennessee River was commenced yesterday.

F. SMITH, steward of the Mary Bell, has quit that steamer and embarked in the restaurant business in Memphis.

MR. WM. REDMAN, an old and well-known coal operator, died rather suddenly at his residence, Braddocks Field, yesterday.

THE war of competition in the Nashville and Upper Cumberland trade has begun by the Laura Davis "tackling the Pee Line boats.

THE fine packet steamer Exchange, Capt. Shuman, with Messrs. Harbison and Dales associated in the office, is announced for Cincinnati forthwith.

THE St. Francis Belle is still high and dry at Island No. 65, and her cargo of cotton is yet on board. It will require several feet of a rise to put her afloat.

THE time of departure of the steamer John L. Rhoads has been changed until Friday next, when, Captain Vandergrift says, she takes her departure for St. Louis.

THE Sandy Dawn and Florence were in a jam on the 19th, 18 miles above Shreveport, and the Clifford had gone up to assist them through. The two former arrived at Shreveport on the 20th.

THE, Emma Graham, from Cincinnati, was due last night, and will doubtless be found in here this morning. The Graham is a regular weekly packet, leaving here every Wednesday at 4 P. M.

CAPT. R. W. DUGAN writes Capt. Geo. W. Neare, from New Orleans, that he has visited the sunken steamer Yazoo Belle, and thinks he can raise her. The Yazoo Belle was recently sunk below Vicksburg.

THE C. B. Church, en route from New Orleans to Cincinnati, has 111 barrels of molasses for Pittsburgh, and the Robert Mitchell, en route from the same point to Cincinnati, has 224 barrels of molasses and 90 bbls of rice for this port.

ON the Arlington are two mules—one consigned to Will S. Hays, Louisville, and the other to J. N. Silverthorn, Evansville. They are presented to these gentlemen by Capt. H. U. Hart, of the steamer H. S. Turner, and are valued at $1,000 each.

THE Memphis Avalance, of Saturday, says: "The Mary Miller's freight, reshipped from this city on the Andy Baum and James D. Parker, has a bill of $1,500 court fee charges upon it, which the steamers named paid over in currency to the United States Marshal. This is only a small part of the expenses in the Miller's mishap case."

FREIGHT rates from St. Louis to New Orleans have dropped to 17½ cents per cwt., 35 cents on flour and 50 cents on pork. Stock pays better, and southern bound steamers generally have all they can stow. Up freights from New Orleans to St. Louis range from 15 to 25 cents per cwt. Corn from New Madrid Bend south is 12½ cents per cwt., and cotton from Memphis 75 cents to $1 per bale.

THE sternwheel steamer Lotus is high and dry on the top of a sand bar, near Cox's wood-yard, on the Alabama river. She had 319 bales of cotton on board when she stuck, of which 100 is in the hold and inconvenient to get at. The remainder was forwarded to Mobile by a passing steamer. There is no chance for the Lotus to float until the next rise. The Alabama and its tributaries have fallen very fast, and is getting too shoal for anything except light draught boats.

A LATE Memphis paper says: A "war of giants" of greater magnitude than any heretofore experienced is threatened, compared with which all the river rivalry in these waters will be as pigmies contesting with Titans. A rumor prevailed and was generally credited yesterday, that the Mary Bell had formed a business alliance with the John B. Maude since the James Howard has jumped the trade, and that the Maude turns back from Chicot on her present up trip so as to get over on the Thompson Dean's week. If such is really the fact, the owners of the Dean propose to carry the war directly into Africa by placing their steamer on the same day with the Mary Bell.

The Iron and Metal Trades.

A Birmingham correspondent writes: Generally speaking the past year has been more favorable for local industries than was anticipated. The fall in price has not exceeded the fall in the price of coal and iron. The home trade has been quite up to the average of recent years, though, owing to the difficulty which has been experienced in getting articles out of manufacturers' hands, and the urgency with which the somewhat small orders given out have been required, business has been rather harassing at times. The prospects of the ensuing quarter are considered very promising. Builders and general furnishing iron-mongery is largely in demand, and some good orders are expected from the United States and Canada for steel toys and implements. Prices continue firm, and there is a tendency to increased firmness, owing to the un settled state of wages in the coal trade.

CHILD RESTORED TO SIGHT.

Grandson of John Bert, Allegheny.

My four-year-old grandson, Harry, suffered a year ago from whooping cough and severe inflammation in both eyes. I employed, in all, six of the most popular physicians during a period of ten months, but at the end of that time the child was deprived of sight, unable to bear the least ray of light, and we despaired of his ever seeing again. Dr. O. W. Sadler, No. 256 Penn avenue, was then recommended to me, and I am happy to state, under his care the child has completely recovered sight. Next to God I am thankful to Dr. Sadler for the skill by which he has restored our little boy's eyes, and I feel duty bound to recommend him all to those effected with diseased eyes.

JOHN BERT,
No. 132 Spring Garden avenue,
Allegheny, Pa.

A HEEDLESS HORSE.

Another Exciting Runaway in Allegheny.

During the past few months the horses in Allegheny have behaved themselves pretty well, but last evening a gymnastic equine made things very lively on Lacock street. About four o'clock a horse attached to a wagon, driven by a man named Murphy, while passing along the street named, near the railroad bridge, became frightened and ran off. Murphy was thrown from the wagon and received several severe wounds on the back of his head. The runaway animal continued on down Anderson street, where it ran upon the cellar door in front of Fleming & Jeffries' grocery store and smashed the front window in. The cellar door then gave way, and the horse dropped into the subterranean department of the building. It was soon after raised out safe and sound. Murphy was taken to Slaughterbeck's drug store and his wounds dressed. The horse and wagon belong to Wm. Russell.

ALLEGHENY MARKETS.

Officers Nominated—Shall the Center Square be Roofed.

The Market Committee of Allegheny Councils met last evening. Mr. W. C. Cooke presiding. It at once went into caucus to nominate Market Constable and Market Sweeper. For the former position the names of Wm. Smith, S. Tyler, J. Murphy, Robert Giles and Robert Boyd were suggested. On the fourth ballot J. Murphy received the nomination. For Market Sweeper, the following persons were suggested: John Hanrahan, Morris Craven, Elias Schook, Wm. Phillips, Wm. Smith, Thomas Cooley, Sol. Lightcap and Charles Snyder. On the fifth ballot Wm. Smith received the nomination. The election of Messrs. Murphy and Smith will take place at the next meeting of the committee.

It was agreed to ask Councils for an appropriation of $300 to meet the expenses of the committee during the year.

A resolution was adopted ordering the Market Constable and Sweeper to be hereafter under the control of the Market Clerk.

A communication was received from a number of the hucksters in the Market house, complaining that certain parties are allowed to monopolize all the good stalls. On motion the communication was laid on the table.

The matter of roofing the centre square of the Market House was taken up and discussed at some length. It was stated that one of the butchers in the market offered to rent the entire inner square in case it was roofed, and to give a bonus of $3,000 besides. The chairman submitted a petition signed by sixty-five butchers and gardners asking that it be roofed. Messrs. Welte, Seiling, Heagy and Hunter favored the project, believing that it would increase the revenue from the market. It was also thought that if the roof was put on, a tower for the alarm bell should be built in it at the same time. No action was taken in the matter, and Mr. Cooke withdrew his petition in order to submit it to Councils.

THE REFORM SCHOOL.

The Legislative Committee [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] ... [illegible]

[illegible] favoring and investigation by the Legislature had much to do with the action taken, though the postponement was not made for that reason alone. Another reason for adjournment was that the witnesses wanted to-day had not yet made their appearance, and a third reason was that Mr. Bakewell preferred to await the arrival of Colonel Noyes to assist him, although willing to go on himself if everything was in readiness. Mr. Bakewell was on hand promptly yesterday morning, and accompanying him on the early train were Messrs. Swartzwelder and Doty, the lawyers in the case, Mr. Gill, Miss Pence, Miss Nieman and several reporters. None of the members of the Board of Directors, however, were on hand.

A POSTPONEMENT.

Immediately after the arrival of the party at the institution the session was begun by Mr. Bakewell calling order, when Mr. Avery advanced and said that in consultation with Mr. Gill, for the other side, they had agreed to ask for a postponement of the investigation until to-morrow.

Mr. Bakewell replied that he had no desire to press the parties to the resuming of the investigation to-day if both sides requested it.

Mr. Avery replied that his object in asking the continuance was not that he was not ready to go on to-day, but because that under the circumstances he thought better that a postponement should be had until to-morrow.

Mr. Bakewell said then as both sides had requested it he would adjourn the session until this morning at 9 o'clock.

Col. A. C. Noyes is expected here to-day, and until his arrival it is not definitely known whether the Board of Charities will give way, temporarily or entirely, to the Legislative Committee. The committee appointed by the Legislature, and who are expected to begin their investigation, are as follows: Messrs. Plummer, Thornton, Yerkes, Jackson and Vodges.

The

under which the committee was appointed, empowers them to send for persons and papers, but whether, under the peculiar circumstances of their creation, the committee have the power to issue subpœnas, is seriously questioned. Under the law none but joint committees, that is, committees composed of members of both brances of the Legislature have the right to compel the attendance of witnesses, and as the present committee are made up exclusively of members of the lower House it would seem that, in this respect, they are powerless. However, this will be the first question decided in their first session. It is not likely that there will be any clash betwen the representatives of the Board of Charities and the Legislative Committee. Thus far the disposition is to harmonize all discords, and proceed to the completion of a thorough investigation.

AGITATED ALDERMEN.

Behold How Great a Blaze a Little Fire Kindleth — The "Aldermanic Outrages" Denounced in Terms that Are Unmistakable—Some Other Business Transacted Incidentally.

Another meeting of the Aldermen was held at Smith & Lang's Hall, on Liberty street, last evening, to take action on the report of the Committee on Organization, and to discuss Aldermanic matters in general. Alderman O'Donnell occupied the chair, and Alderman Logan acted as Secretary.

After the meeting came to order the report of the committee before mentioned was presented and read, as follows:

1. This association shall be known as the Association of the Aldermen and Justices of the Peace of Allegheny County.

2. The officers of the association shall consist of a President, Vice President, Recording Secretary, Corresponding Secretary, and Treasurer, and an Executive Committee of three, the committee to draft rules and bylaws for the government of the association.

3. The committee calls the especial attention of this meeting and the aldermen and justices of the peace of Allegheny county to the fact that only through a permanent organization can we act in harmony in all matters of legislation and the mutual benefit of each other. Also, that we should hold a meeting at least once a week.

JOSEPH BUTLER, Chairman.
M. F. CASSIDY, Secretary.

The report was adopted without amendment or dissent.

INCIDENTAL BUSINESS.

Alderman Koenig moved that the meeting organize permanently.

Alderman O'Donnell opposed this on the ground that the attendance was not very large. After some discussion it was decided by motion to leave the matter of organization until the next meeting, the time and place for holding it to be decided by the Executive Committee to be appointed by the Chair.

The following gentlemen were appointed on the committee: Aldermen Butler, Donley and Koenig. Subsequently the committee was increased to five, and Alderman D. L. Smith and Alderman Robinson, of Temperanceville, added.

Alderman Butler wanted a committee appointed to go to Harrisburg immediately and look after the proposed legislation in reference to Aldermen. He thought that if they waited until the next meeting the bills may be passed. The other members, however, were not impressed with the necessity of haste, and the matter was dropped.

Alderman O'Donnell called attention to the repeated attacks on Aldermen through the city papers, and insisted that instead of publishing almost libellous articles against the Aldermen generally, they should give specific cases and name the Aldermen. He then requested that an editorial article from yesterday's GAZETTE, entitled "Aldermanic Outrages," be read.

The request was complied with by Alderman Mark Donley.

THE STORM BREAKS.

This raised a perfect storm of indignant remonstrance. A number of aldermen had read the article before, but some of them had not. All of them were of the opinion, however, that the article was an insult to the fraternity, and should be resented.

Alderman D. L. Smith said he had been a regular subscriber for the paper for twenty-four years, and he had no intention to stop his subscription now because one of the editors took advantage of his position to make an unprovoked attack upon a body of men. But he must say that he considered that for a paper of the character and high standing of the GAZETTE, one whose circulation is so large, to make such a charge was

AN INSULT.

He could hardly believe that the article was written by one of its regular editors. He had been shocked and pained upon reading the article, and, it was to call attention to it that he had attended the meeting.

He went on to say that Aldermen have very few cases of summary conviction before them, and consequently there can be but few cases of abuse. The Mayor disposes of many such cases every day, and yet there is never a word said about abuse in his department, and there is far more room for complaint in reference to cases before him, because no defense is made in the Police Court, while Aldermen are compelled to hear the defendant in cases of summary conviction.

The statement in the GAZETTE's article that one poor man had been fined $40 for a violation of the law against cruelty to animals, and that he was compelled to suffer because he had no appeal, the Alderman pronounced incorrect on the face of it, for two reasons. First, because the maxium fine in such cases is $10. Second, because the law allows an appeal in all cases where the amount of fine is over $10. [The speaker is correct, and also incorrect; the fine amounted to $40 on four different charges made at the same time.—ED.] He insisted that the editor should have known these facts, and displayed inexcusable ignorance in not knowing them.

HOW THEY ARE WRONGED.

The speaker believed that all the Aldermen conscientiously discharge their duties. While they have made mistakes, the cases are rare. They are few compared to those made in the Court of Quarter Sessions, from whose decision there is no appeal. There are abuses in this Court, the speaker said, and the papers know it, yet they never say a word about it. But when an Alderman does wrong, the aggrieved one runs to an editor, confident of finding a willing ear.

Unless men learned in the law are elected, the speaker did not know where suitable men for aldermen could be found, if in lieu of attorneys upright and honest citizens were not taken. And it is a notorious fact that many lawyers are not fit to be aldermen. He believed that the one hundred aldermen in the two cities are as good men for the positions as could possibly be found. He believed that the

COURTS SHOULD BE VINDICATED.

If the papers should make a systematic and continued attack upon the Courts the evils resulting from the consequent loss of faith in them would be very great.

The speaker did not object to the papers publishing specific charges against Aldermen, giving the names of the officers committing the offenses, but he did not believe all should be branded for the shortcomings of the few. He called upon the papers to publish the facts, and requested that if a representative of the GAZETTE was present, [which it is evident there was] that he ask the proprietors to give the facts upon which its charges were founded.

ALDERMANIC SENTIMENT.

More especially did he ask this since the sentiments of the body of Aldermen in reference to these abuses must certainly be known to the public; or at leest ought to be known from the published reports of the former meetings. The Aldermen regret that these abuses exist, and are unanimously in favor of rectifying them. The evil of summary convictions without appeal, the speaker said the Aldermen were not responsible for but the law in the case. But that these abuses were such as to make it desirable to abolish the office of Alderman the speaker did not admit. The lawmakers knew this, or they would long since have taken action. They (the legislators) knew that the office is too honorable, too time-honored, to abolish.

The speaker believed that if Aldermen erred it was frequently

ON THE SIDE OF MERCY.

He knew of instances where the Alderman had paid his Constable's fees out of his own pocket to save a poor offender the tax; yet no such items were ever published in the Pittsburgh GAZETTE.

The tendency of the press to traduce the character of all public officers, councilmen, legislators, and others, he considered one of the greatest evils of the day. He had actually known men to refuse to run for the Legislature because they were afraid of their characters being ruined by the papers.

THE ANIMUS OF IT.

Alderman Mark Donley thought that the article in question was written in the interest of some party; i. e., that there were ulterior motives in the publication, intimating that Mayor McCarthy's interests were dear to the GAZETTE. However, he hardly thought the press should be attacked for what one editor should do.

Alderman O'Donnell was of the opinion that many writers for the press are laboring under a false impression in reference to summary convictions. Aldermen receive no fees in such cases

ANOTHER SUPPRESSED ITEM.

Alderman Koenig told of a case of disorderly conduct, in which there was really no ground for complaint, which he refused to hear, and which being taken to the Mayor the alleged defendant was fined $5 and costs without being heard in defense. And that hadn't been published.

Alderman Butler complained that the charges against the Mayor were too sweeping. Mayor McCarthy generally, if not always, heard the defendant. As to Aldermen, the speaker did not consider they had much more power than a grand juryman in criminal cases.

Alderman D. L. Smith said that the Aldermen have the power to hear both sides in cases of assault and battery.

Alderman Butler insisted that it was only through courtesy that both sides were heard; the law did not require it.

THE STORM SUBSIDES.

It was suggested that a resolution be passed by the meeting asking the GAZETTE to publish the facts upon which the article that caused the gale was founded. A number of the Aldermen favored it, but it was finally not considered necessary [why?], and the meeting adjourned.

THE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

The Legislature in Favor of Technical Education—The $100,000 Appropriation for Pittsburgh Advocated by the State Board of Trustees.

An adjourned meeting of the Industrial School Committee was held in Dr. W. H. McKelvy's office last night at 8 o'clock. There were present Messrs. Reese, Case, McKelvy, Lucky and Brush. At the recent session of the Board of Trustees of the Mechanics High School Commission, Messrs. Reese, who is a member of that body, and Superintendent Lucky made the subject of the proposed Industrial School here in Pittsburgh a matter of conspicuous reference. The meeting last night was called particularly to hear the result of the deliberations at Harrisburgh. Jacob Reese, as one of the Trustees of the Mechanic's High School of Pennsylvania, reported that at a session of the Board on the 19th inst., the morning session was consumed in the discussion of technical education and the duty of the State to educate children in technical knowledge. That question was emphasized by a resolution declaring that it was the immediate duty of the State to establish technical educational schools. Following this the means of securing technical education was discussed. The afternoon was given over to the discussion and the members of the Legislature were invited to participate. The Committees of Education and Finance of both houses took part in the discussion. The discussion was opened by Mr. Reese who said that there were three propositions. The first was and furnishing them at the cost of the State; second, the adapting of the common school system to technical schools, and the third was the endowment of professorships outside the common schools. Covering the first proposition, Mr. Carson offered a bill dividing the State into three districts, a technical school to be in each, located as follows: One in Philadelphia, one in the middle of the State, and one in Pittsburgh. The bill was discussed at great length, and it was not approved because of the expense necessary to carry out its provisions. The matter of endowing the chairs in Technological Colleges was regarded as economical, but the majority thought that it would not furnish a sure foundation for the perpetuity of the technical educational system. By limiting the endowments to learned professors the tendency would not be to assist the the masses into a sure and higher technical education.

It was thought to be most desirable to graft technical instruction upon the common school system, so as to secure the benefits for the masses of the people. No final action was taken by the Trustees, as the meeting was informal, and the object of the session was to obtain an expression of sentiment from those of the Legislature to whose care educational matters were particularly left. In the evening the Board of Directors met and decided to press the bill now before the Legislature which provides for the addition to the regular course of studies of the common schools the art of free hand and line drawing. The bill also makes it obligatory upon all teachers to pass an examination in these studies, some time after the passage of the act. The Board also resolved to request the Legislature to pass.

THE BILL APPROPRIATING $50,000

to the several high schools of the State, to be devoted to promoting technical studies. Of this $50,000 Pittsburgh's share will be from $5,000 to $9,000. This will be in addition to the regular school appropriation. Owing to the opposition of some members of the Legislature, to appropriating any money outside of the common school fund, provided for by the new Constitution, to any but common school purposes, it was decided to withdraw the bill providing for the endowment of a chair of technology in the Universities. The Board of Trustees adopted a resolution favoring the memorialization of the Legislature in favor of the passage of the two bills now before them upon this question, and urging them to give every help to measures brought before them, which were calculated to advance the interests of technical education. In conclusion, Mr. Reese said that the members of the Legislature were very generally warmly in favor of technical education. Hon. J. P. Wickersham had taken a position of especial prominence on this question. He was strongly in favor of establishing a technical institute in Pittsburgh, and he had repeatedly advocated the desirability of our city as a site for such an institution.

It was decided on motion of Mr. Reese that petitions favoring the establishment of such a school here should be prepared by the Pittsburgh committee, and circulated among the people, with a view of influencing the Legislature to the passage of the bill introduced at the instance of this committee. This bill asks for the appropriation of $100,000 for the establishment of a school of technology in Pittsburgh. The committee then adjourned.

VEGETINE

Purifies the Blood, Renovates and Invigorates the Whole System.

Its Medical Properties are

ALTERATIVE, TONIC, SOLVENT AND DIURETIC.

VEGETINE is made exclusively from the juices of carefully selected barks, roots and herbs, and so strongly concentrated that it will effectually eradicate from the system, every taint of Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Tumors, Cancer, Cancerous Humors, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Syphilitic Diseases, Canker, Faintness at the stomach, and all diseases that arise from impure blood. Sciatica, Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout and Spinal Complaints, can only be effectually cured through the blood.

For Ulcers and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, Pustules, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tetter, Scaldhead and Ringworm, VEGETINE has never failed to effect a permanent cure.

For Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints, Dropsy, Female weakness, Leucorrhœa, arising from internal ulceration, and uterine diseases and General Debility, VEGETINE acts directly upon the causes of these complaints. It invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs, allays inflammation, cures ulceration, and regulates the bowels.

For Catarrh, Dyspepsia, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Headache, Piles, Nervous and General prostration of the Nervous System, no medicine has ever given such perfect satisfaction as the VEGETINE. It purifies the blood, cleanses all the organs, and possesses a controlling power over the nervous system.

The remarkable cures effected by VEGETINE have induced many physicians and apothecaries whom we know to prescribe and use it in their own families.

In fact, VEGETINE is the best remedy yet discovered for the above diseases, and it is the only reliable BLOOD PURIFIER yet placed before the public.

PREPARED BY

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON, MASS.

WHAT IS VEGETINE.

It is a compound extracted from barks, roots and herbs. It is Nature's Remedy. It is perfectly harmless from any bad effect upon the system. It is nourishing and strengthening. It acts directly upon the blood. It quiets the nervous system. It gives you good, sweet sleep at night. It is a great panacea for our aged fathers and mothers; for it gives them strength, quiets their nerves, and gives them Nature's sweet sleep—as has been proved by many an aged person. It is the great Blood Purifier. It is a soothing remedy for our children. It has relieved and cured thousands. It is very pleasant to take; every child likes it. It relieves and cures all diseases originating from impure blood. Try the VEGETINE. Give it a fair trial for your complaints; then you will say to your friend, neighbor and acquaintance, "Try it; it has cured me."

VEGETINE, for the complaints for which it is recommended, is having a larger sale throughout the United States than any other one medicine. Why? Vegetine will cure these complaints.

VALUABLE INFORMATION.

BOSTON, December 12, 1869.

Gentlemen—My only object in giving you this testimonial is to spread valuable information. Having been badly afflicted with Salt Rheum, and the whole surface of my skin being covered with pimples and eruptions, many of which caused me great pain and annoyance, and knowing it to be a blood disease, I took many of the advertised blood preparations, among which was any quantity of Sarsaparilla, without obtaining any benefit until I commenced taking the VEGETINE, and before I had completed the first bottle I saw that I had got the right medicine. Consequently I followed on with it until I had taken seven bottles, when I was pronounced a well man, and my skin is smooth and entirely free from pimples and eruptions. I have never enjoyed so good health before, and I attribute it all to the use of VEGETINE. To benefit those afflicted with Rheumatism, I will make mention also of the VEGETINE's wonderful power of curing me of this acute complaint, of which I have suffered so intensely.

OF

REAL ESTATE.

The undersigned Executor of the estate of WM. MARSHALL, dec'd, late of Little Beaver township, Lawrence county, Pa., will sell the farm of the said decedent at public sale on the premises, on FRIDAY, February 25th, A. D. 1876, containing about 140 acres, being one of the finest farms in the township, in good repair, well watered and well timbered, with a good orchard facing to the south. Improvements of said farm are a large frame cellar barn 44x58 feet, in which is one of McCown's Patent Hay Elevators, which he warrants to the purchaser of the premises that it will unload hay or loose oats with greater ease, safety and facility, and more durable than anything of the kind that can be produced at the Centennial Fair, and that he agrees to pay all damages if the above statement is not true in every particular. Dwelling house 28x30 feet, two stories high, containing 7 rooms, with cellar underneath, and other farm buildings. Also an excellent never-failing spring of pure water near the house, with its stream passing near the barn. Situated 4 miles north of Enon Station, on the Fort Wayne Road. Also a public road running through the farm. Terms of sale, one-third of the purchase money to be paid at the confirmation of the sale at the May term of Court, and one-third in a year from the confirmation of sale, with interest from the date of sale, and the balance to be paid at decease of widow, with interest annually paid to her from the date of sale; but the third payment in no event to become due till two years from date of confirmation. Deed to be delivered to purchaser at the time of the first payment, the purchaser giving bond and mortgage on the premises for the back payments, and the necessary obligations for the payment of the interest annually to the widow. Possession given April 1, 1876. Sale to commence at 1 o'clock, P. M.

Conditions of sale to protect the rights of both seller and purchaser in regard to the above and for the faithful performance of both parties made known on day of sale.
